"No book is serviceable until it has been read, and reread,
and loved and loved again."

—Ruskin

With this idea in mind we,
the staff, have tried to make this book a living memory of the good times enjoyed in athletics, activities, and with our fellow students. If we attain this end, then our efforts have not been in vain.

English

English is one of the most fundamental subjects in the entire curriculum. It is a part of every subject taught, and it reaches into every activity of the school. Furthermore, it extends into the life of the student as a means of helping him to a greater power of self-expression. English furnishes an incentive toward more effective writing, it provides a reasonable command of the spoken language, and it guides in the selecting of books for pleasure and instruction. The basic character of English determines its ultimate values. Its power as a controlling factor decides definitely the status of the student intellectually, vocationally and socially.

Foreign Languages

The Modern Language Department in Bellevue High School is comprised of Spanish and French students. The Department strives to awaken in the student's mind an appreciation of the genius of a people widely different from his own. It tries to create a cultural, historical, and human background which will lead to better international understanding.

We study Latin to learn about the history and life of the people of many centuries ago in order to get a true perspective of our own times and its problems, and to make us duly conscious of what we owe in the heritage of our language, ideas, and customs.

Science

Perhaps no man has yet imagined what a forest may some day be—a forest of great trees, without disease, free from stinging insects and vindictive reptiles, open, verdant, and delightful. With the aid of science that condition may someday exist. Science has advanced to such a stage in recent years that today it determines our very existence, proving the fact that human life is moulded by human knowledge. Social science is a concentrated study of man's entire accomplishments and of the everyday problems that he must face.

With these and other facts in mind Bellevue High School maintains an efficient and capable science department, consisting of six courses: general science, biology, physics, chemistry, history, and economics. Under the able guidance of Mr. Ruthart, Miss Mitchell, Mr. Gilliland, Mr. Dodds, Miss Rowley, Mr. Shope, and Mr. Schenkel, experiments and discussions on various subjects are conducted. Therefore, this department should go far as a determining factor of the school.

Mathematics

The ancient Egyptians concluded that the Creator of the Universe was the Master Mathematician. The planets still are doing business in their same old orbits with such precision that the scientist can determine even where one Dog Star will be biting the other, centuries hence. Thus mathematics may be employed to serve correctly any of Mother Earth's children, from the simplest calculation of income or outlay, to the completion of the most complex construction or the most intricate projection.

Realizing this, Bellevue High School offers the student expert training in algebra, plane and solid geometry, and trigonometry. The student who majors in mathematics studies algebra as a freshman, plane geometry as a sophomore, solid geometry and higher algebra as a junior, trigonometry as a senior.

Arts

Art is the skill in performance acquired by experience, study, or observation. Our fine and practical art departments have accomplished just that. Have you ever tasted any of the delicacies prepared in the food classes? Did you ever notice the lovely things made by the girls in the sewing classes? Certainly you have seen the fine products made by Mr. Ford's classes. Without a doubt, you have profited by the use of our library.

These departments have not only made useful articles for themselves, but have been a great help to the school, especially in giving assistance in various programs.

Commercial

The Commercial Department strives to train the student along commercial lines so that he may be able to fill a position with the confidence and the skill necessary for success in the progressive business world of today. The high school graduate who has completed a commercial course is well-equipped either to secure a job upon graduation or to continue this course of study in college.

The department offers numerous courses: shorthand, typewriting, and office practice taught by Mrs. Cox and Miss Grabbe; bookkeeping, commercial geography, and senior business training taught by Mr. King; Business English taught by Miss Ashe; and commercial law taught by Mr. Shope.

Gymnasium

Discarding previous methods of conducting "Gym" classes, Miss Seldon, this year, adopted a new arrangement. According to this, in the first six weeks period, the girls were occupied with outdoor field work, especially soccer. The second period consisted of mat work and tumbling. The third period was taken up with learning tap dances and playing basketball. This system proved wholly satisfactory since at the end of each period the girls took tests on the work covered in that six weeks. The remaining part of the year was spent on working with apparatus and stunts, track, mushball, volleyball, tennis, archery, fencing, marching, and athletic badge tests. These multiple sports and activities combined to round out a varied and unusually interesting "Gym" schedule.

Junior "A" Class

Although one of the largest in the school, the Junior Class has not been so large as to prove cumbersome in organizing first-rate activities. The "mock trial" chapel program was truly entertaining, and the Jim-Jam stunt, though simple, was subtle and quite "to the point."

The Junior "A" section sponsored the Christmas dance. The decorations, representing an icy cavern, provided a unique and appropriate setting for the holiday festivities.

Junior "B" Class

While these things were taking place, the Junior "B's" although collaborating with the Junior "A's" in several instances, set about the task of making themselves famous. Since they had been unable to sponsor a dance the previous year, they proceeded to make their Junior Prom a dance long to be remembered. The orchestra received an unusual number of members from this class, and Student Council counted in its group many juniors of outstanding ability and talent. All in all, a busy group, these almost-Seniors, aren't they?

Sophomore Class

As sophomores, the class of "38" has outgrown its greenish hue. They have become better acquainted. As Freshmen they were a great support to the Belle Hop, Gleeman, clubs, and social affairs. The Jim-Jam stunt, a musical and dramatic version of David Copperfield, won the second prize. The play was acted in pantomime, while a chorus of thirty-five told the story in verse to the time of Ta-ra-ra-Boom-deay. This unusual act required the assistance of eighty-five sophomores, and displayed the dramatic, artistic, literary, and musical talents of the class.

Their first chapel program, a "Jack Benny" skit, revealed several comedians in this talented class.

Their Washington's birthday chapel program was the result of a feverish two hour's work. The first half consisted of a tribute to the Great American, and the second half, a serious presentation, was made up of various episodes in his life.

This year's sophomores have made a place for themselves in scholarship, dramatics, music, and other activities. They are expected to go far along these lines.

When we entered this high school last September 3, 1935, we were looked upon by all the upper classmen as very small and unimportant freshmen. Perhaps this thing spurred us on to bigger and better activities for a freshman class. Anyway, the rest of the school soon found the majority of our class supporting all the activities and organizations of the school. Our class has taken an active part in two important affairs. One was the Jim-Jam in which our stunt took first prize. We were very pleasantly surprised at this unexpected acclaim, for we were merely portraying the difficulties we have had to undergo while in high school.

In our chapel program which celebrated the Thanksgiving holidays we enacted realistic scenes of a Thanksgiving on a farm. Even some of the upper classmen admitted that we did well in these exhibitions of our talents.

We have also coöperated with the sophomores by helping them make the Theater Guild a successful organization.

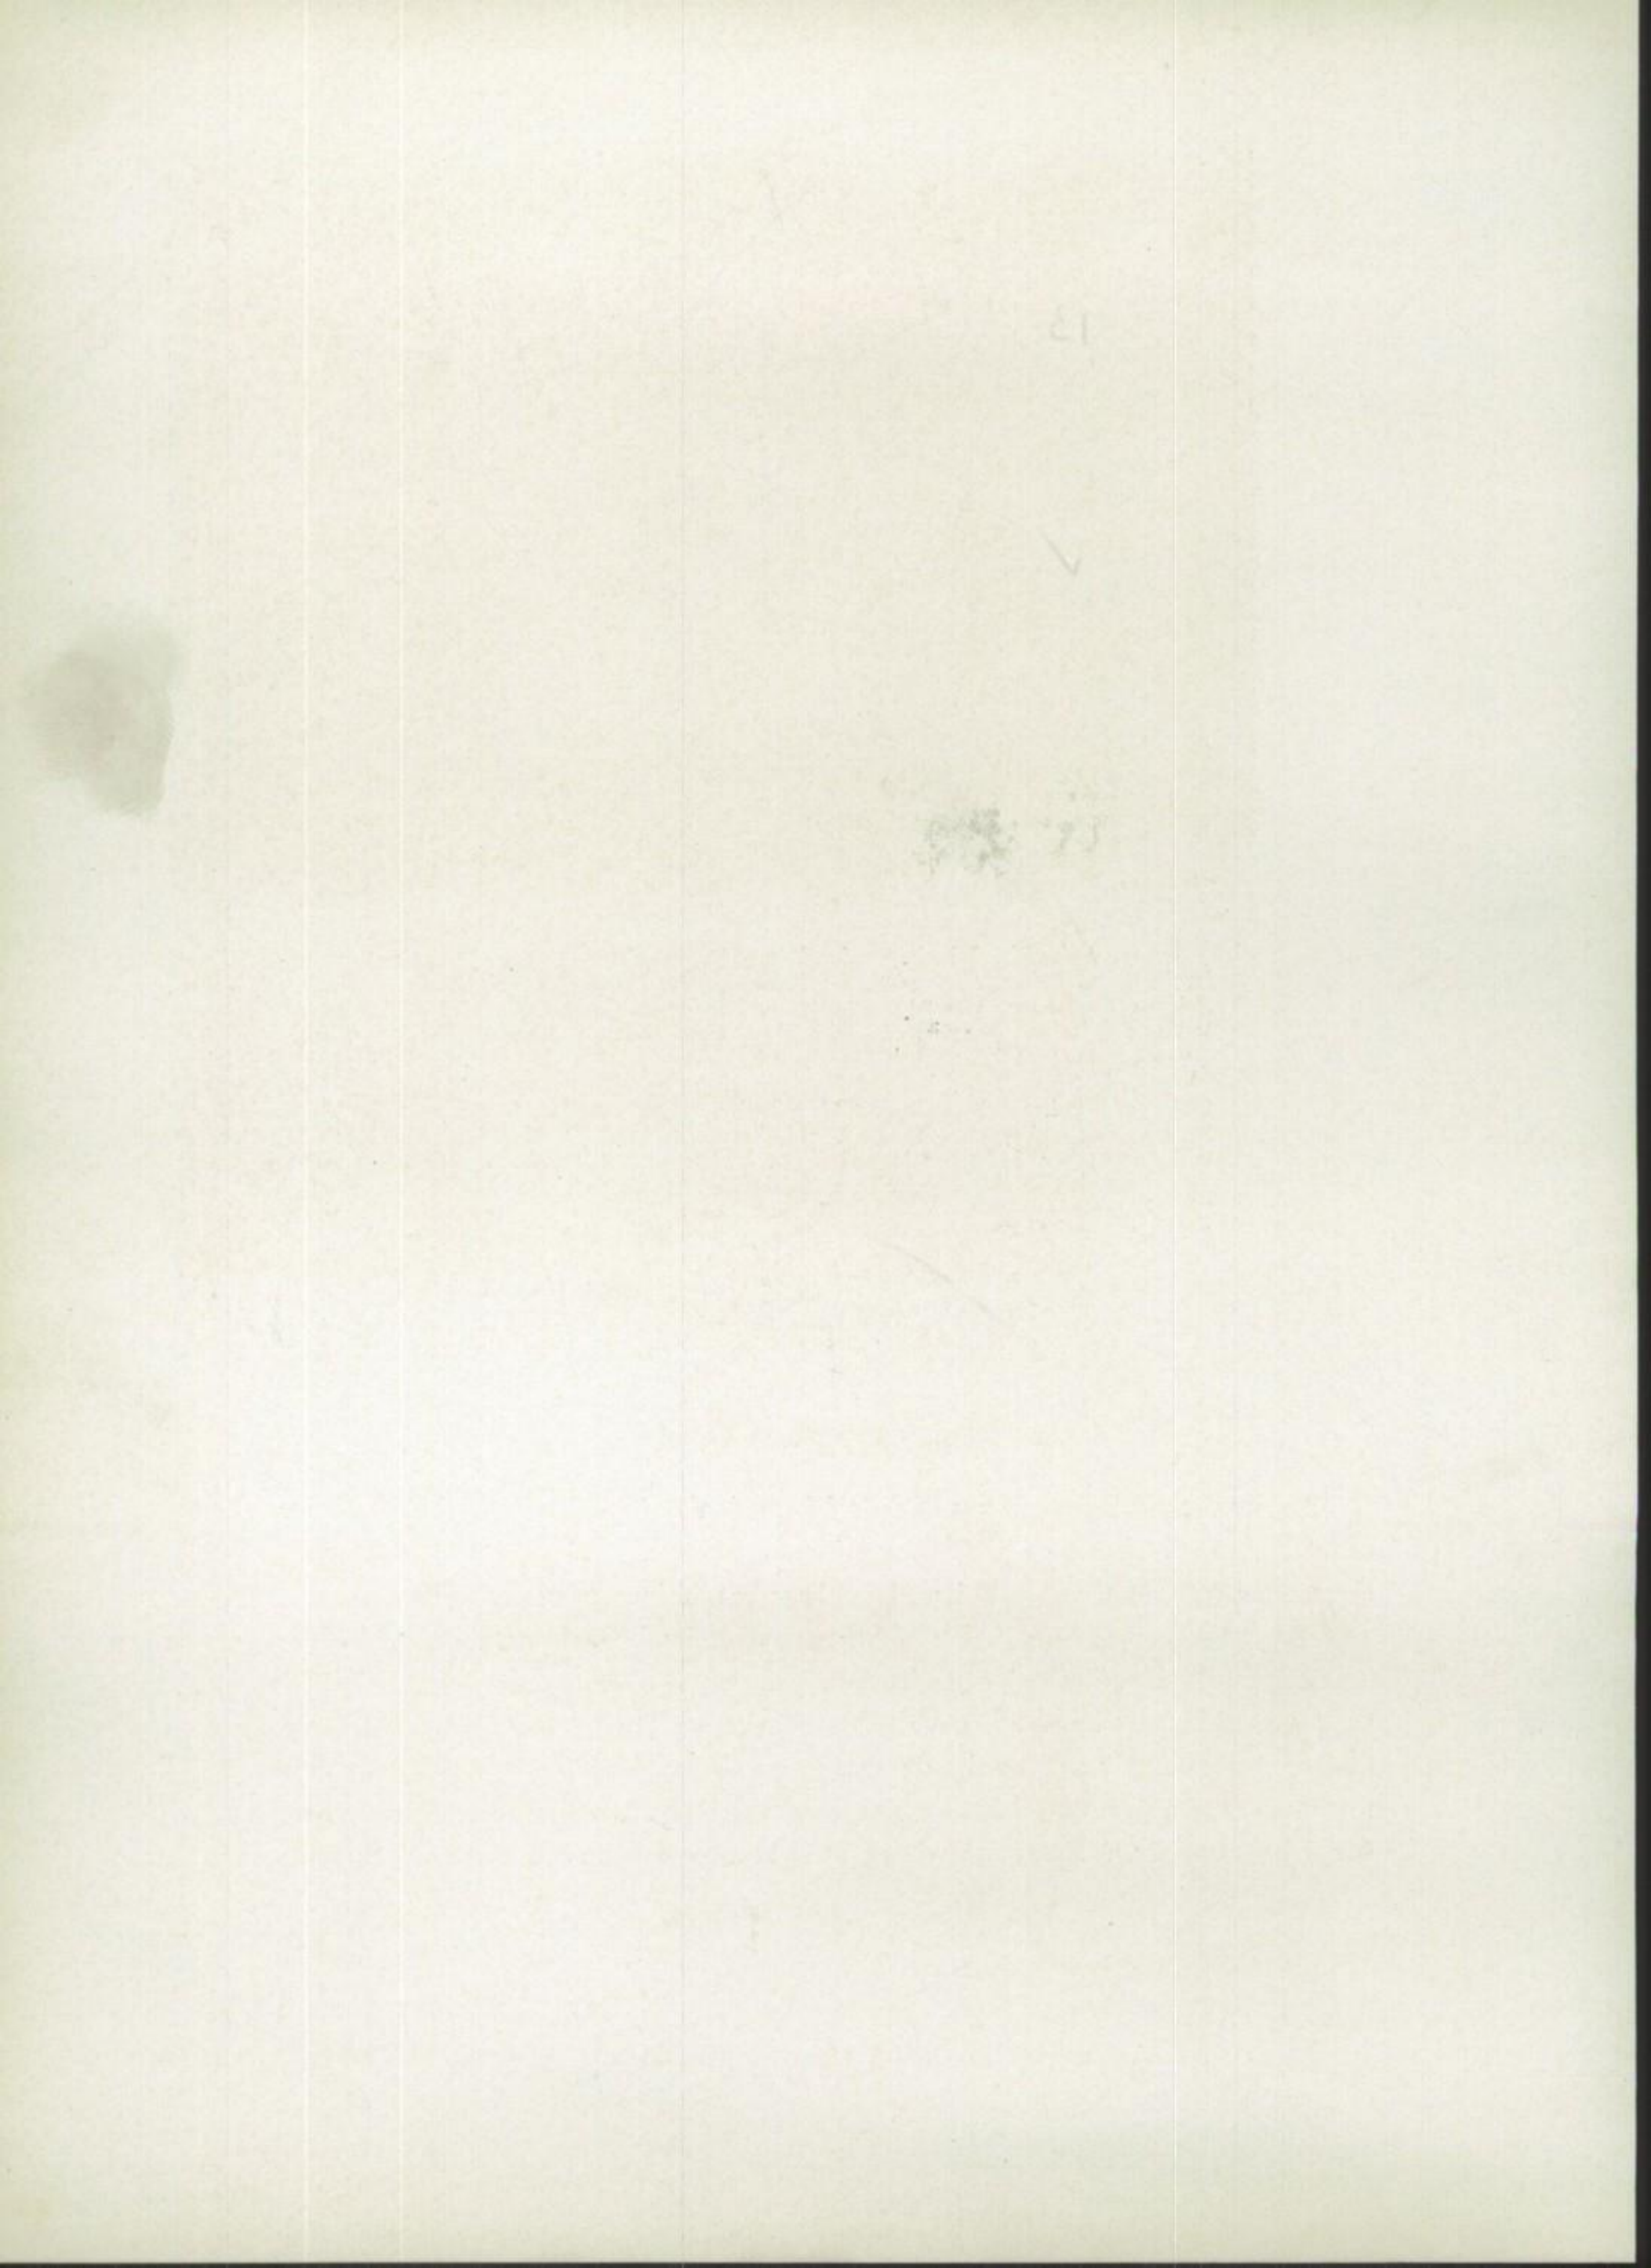

We could not, however, have achieved success during this past year if we had not been so ably assisted by our sponsors. The whole freshmen class wishes to thank Miss Dorothy Thomas, Miss Wagoner, Miss Grabbe, Miss Buttermore, Mr. King, and Mr. Wallace for helping us to become used to our new environment.

Annual Staff

The Annual Staff, sincerely endeavoring to make the yearbook one which the students will always cherish, has tried hard to present the material in a unique manner. The editorial staff, whose members were selected for their writing ability, did its utmost to make the write-ups interesting and entertaining. The art staff, attempting originality in the division pages, owes a vote of thanks to Mr. Wallace, who willingly helped in the work. Without the help of the efficient business staff, which solicited advertisements and raised funds, publication would not have been possible. Miss Taylor and Mr. King should be congratulated for their splendid advice and assistance.

Belle Hop

With a free issue to each pupil on the first day of school, the new and enthusiastic Belle Hop Staff launched its first semester campaign. The promise of a larger paper for the same price greatly appealed to the students, and results were most gratifying. More than four hundred subscriptions were received. A Hallowe'en dance was sponsored by the staff. The informality of the dance and the introduction of a new musical system, Public Address, drew popular comment. Many persistent demands followed for more social dances, and another was held after the Sewickley-Bellevue basketball game.

The beginning of the second semester found the staff full of fettle and again campaigning. Once more the student body responded with its full support. The paper continued on its upward course, each issue improving upon the former. The novel idea of front-page silhouettes decidedly added color to the paper and was well-liked by its subscribers. A last senior edition in honor of our graduates brought to a close a busy and successful year.

National Honor Society

On January 4, 1936, thirteen new members were added to the already existing membership of 169, five of this number being active, of the National Honor Society of Bellevue High School. Considered to be the highest honor possible to a group of high school students, entrance into the Society is attained through these qualifications: leadership, scholarship, character, and service. The student who is best qualified for membership is one who stands high in scholastic merits, participates in various activities, has the quality of leadership, and under all this, possesses true character. Hard requirements, but ones which go to build admirable and trustworthy citizens of a democratic land.

Student Council

Membership in the Student Council, the governing body of the school, is considered to be not only an honor but a heavy responsibility. One of the first constructive activities this year was the selling of season athletic tickets. The next activity was a "Pep Chapel" presented the day of the Avalon football game. A week later, Student Council sponsored the Football Dance. These last two events were very successful, but in a purely social field.

Above everything else Student Council represents the highest ideals of the high school, with a group of the students striving to maintain and exemplify those ideals. It is truly a worthwhile organization in Bellevue High School.

Girl Reserves

At an overnight retreat in Leetsdale, the Girl Reserves' cabinet planned the complete schedule for the year. The Father and Daughter Banquet, the Mother and Daughter Tea, and the Senior Farewell Banquets constituted the main social affairs. The G. R.'s continued their social service work by packing baskets, dressing dolls and visiting the Old Folks' Home. Talks on travel, vocations, and handicapped lives, given at the instructive meetings, proved very educational to the girls. The bake sale held in January was a huge success.

The club owes a great deal of gratitude to its able president, Frances Serre, and its sponsors, Miss Johnston and Miss Dorothy Thomas, who replaced Miss Hortenstine at mid-term.

Hi-Y

The Hi-Y Club, now in its twenty-second year in Bellevue High School, has just completed another successful year under the guidance of Mr. Montgomery, better known as "Monty," Secretary of the North Boroughs Branch, Y.M.C.A.

A new plan for selecting officers was inaugurated this year, and has proved most satisfactory. Instead of the usual elections, Mr. Montgomery appointed Milton Hosack president, Clyde Brooks vice-president, James McCance, secretary, and Raymond Love, treasurer. During their term the club followed its usual active program.

Many outstanding speakers visited the meetings and brought messages as interesting as they were varied.

Some of the special occasions were Faculty Night, Mothers' Night, and the Father and Son Banquet.

Girls' Athletic Club

Throughout the history of the Girls' Athletic Club, the aim of the club has been the development of sportsmanship, initiative, and character in its members. Miss Seldon, although new this year, has done much to help the girls in working toward their goal. Not only in athletics but also in social activities have the G.A.C.'s shown their versatility. Their Salmagundi Party was pronounced a "riot" and their traditionally excellent "Jim-Jam" stunt lived up to its predecessors. The stiff requirements for entrance invite, rather than discourage, striving girls. But why not, look at the reward?

Art Club

This year saw a new organization in the school, that of the Art Club. Started by a group of art students with the help of Mr. Wallace, the club was created with entirely new objectives. The members are attempting to organize a group upon which the whole school will depend for artistic assistance in various affairs.

They designed the programs for the Football Dance and helped immensely in decorating for other dances. By exhibiting posters, they added to the success of Vocational Guidance Week. Although interest in the organization is not extensive, it is believed that in time it will develop into an active, indispensable body.

Girls' Glee Club

Is there anyone in Bellevue High School who doesn't enjoy hearing the Girls' Glee Club sing? Such a person would be difficult to find, you may be sure. You see, Mr. Brautigam has trained the voices of these talented girls very carefully. The girls so willingly cooperated with his efforts that only good results were obtained.

In the chapel programs, whether presented by the Glee Club or by the individual classes, the girls of this organization figured prominently.

The trio is perhaps the most widely known branch of the Glee Club. These three girls certainly seem to be heading for success.

Congratulations for achievements during the past year and best wishes for the future are in order for our club.

A cappella Choir

Recently I overheard someone say that music was fast becoming the most important phase of Bellevue High School life. This chorus is surely an outstanding part of our music. Mr. Brautigam is the direct cause for its importance. The inspiring chapel program at Christmas was proof that his efforts have not been in vain. Those who have heard the chorus, whether over the radio or in our own high school, have only the highest praise for it.

The chorus has obtained black velvet and red satin robes for its fifty members.

A bright future is in store for this musical organization if it continues to do in the future as it has done in the past.

The Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club is sponsored by Miss Metzger and Miss Buttermore. Mary Louise Wachter was elected president at the first meeting. Plans for a very interesting program for the year included a bake sale, held in February, and a Senior Farewell Banquet in June. Social work was not forgotten. Each member of the club made an illustrated notebook for the orphans at Christmas time.

The club has not only increased its membership, but it has also inspired friendships within the group.

The girls are proud of the fact that they are a member of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Student Home Economics Clubs.

Orchestra

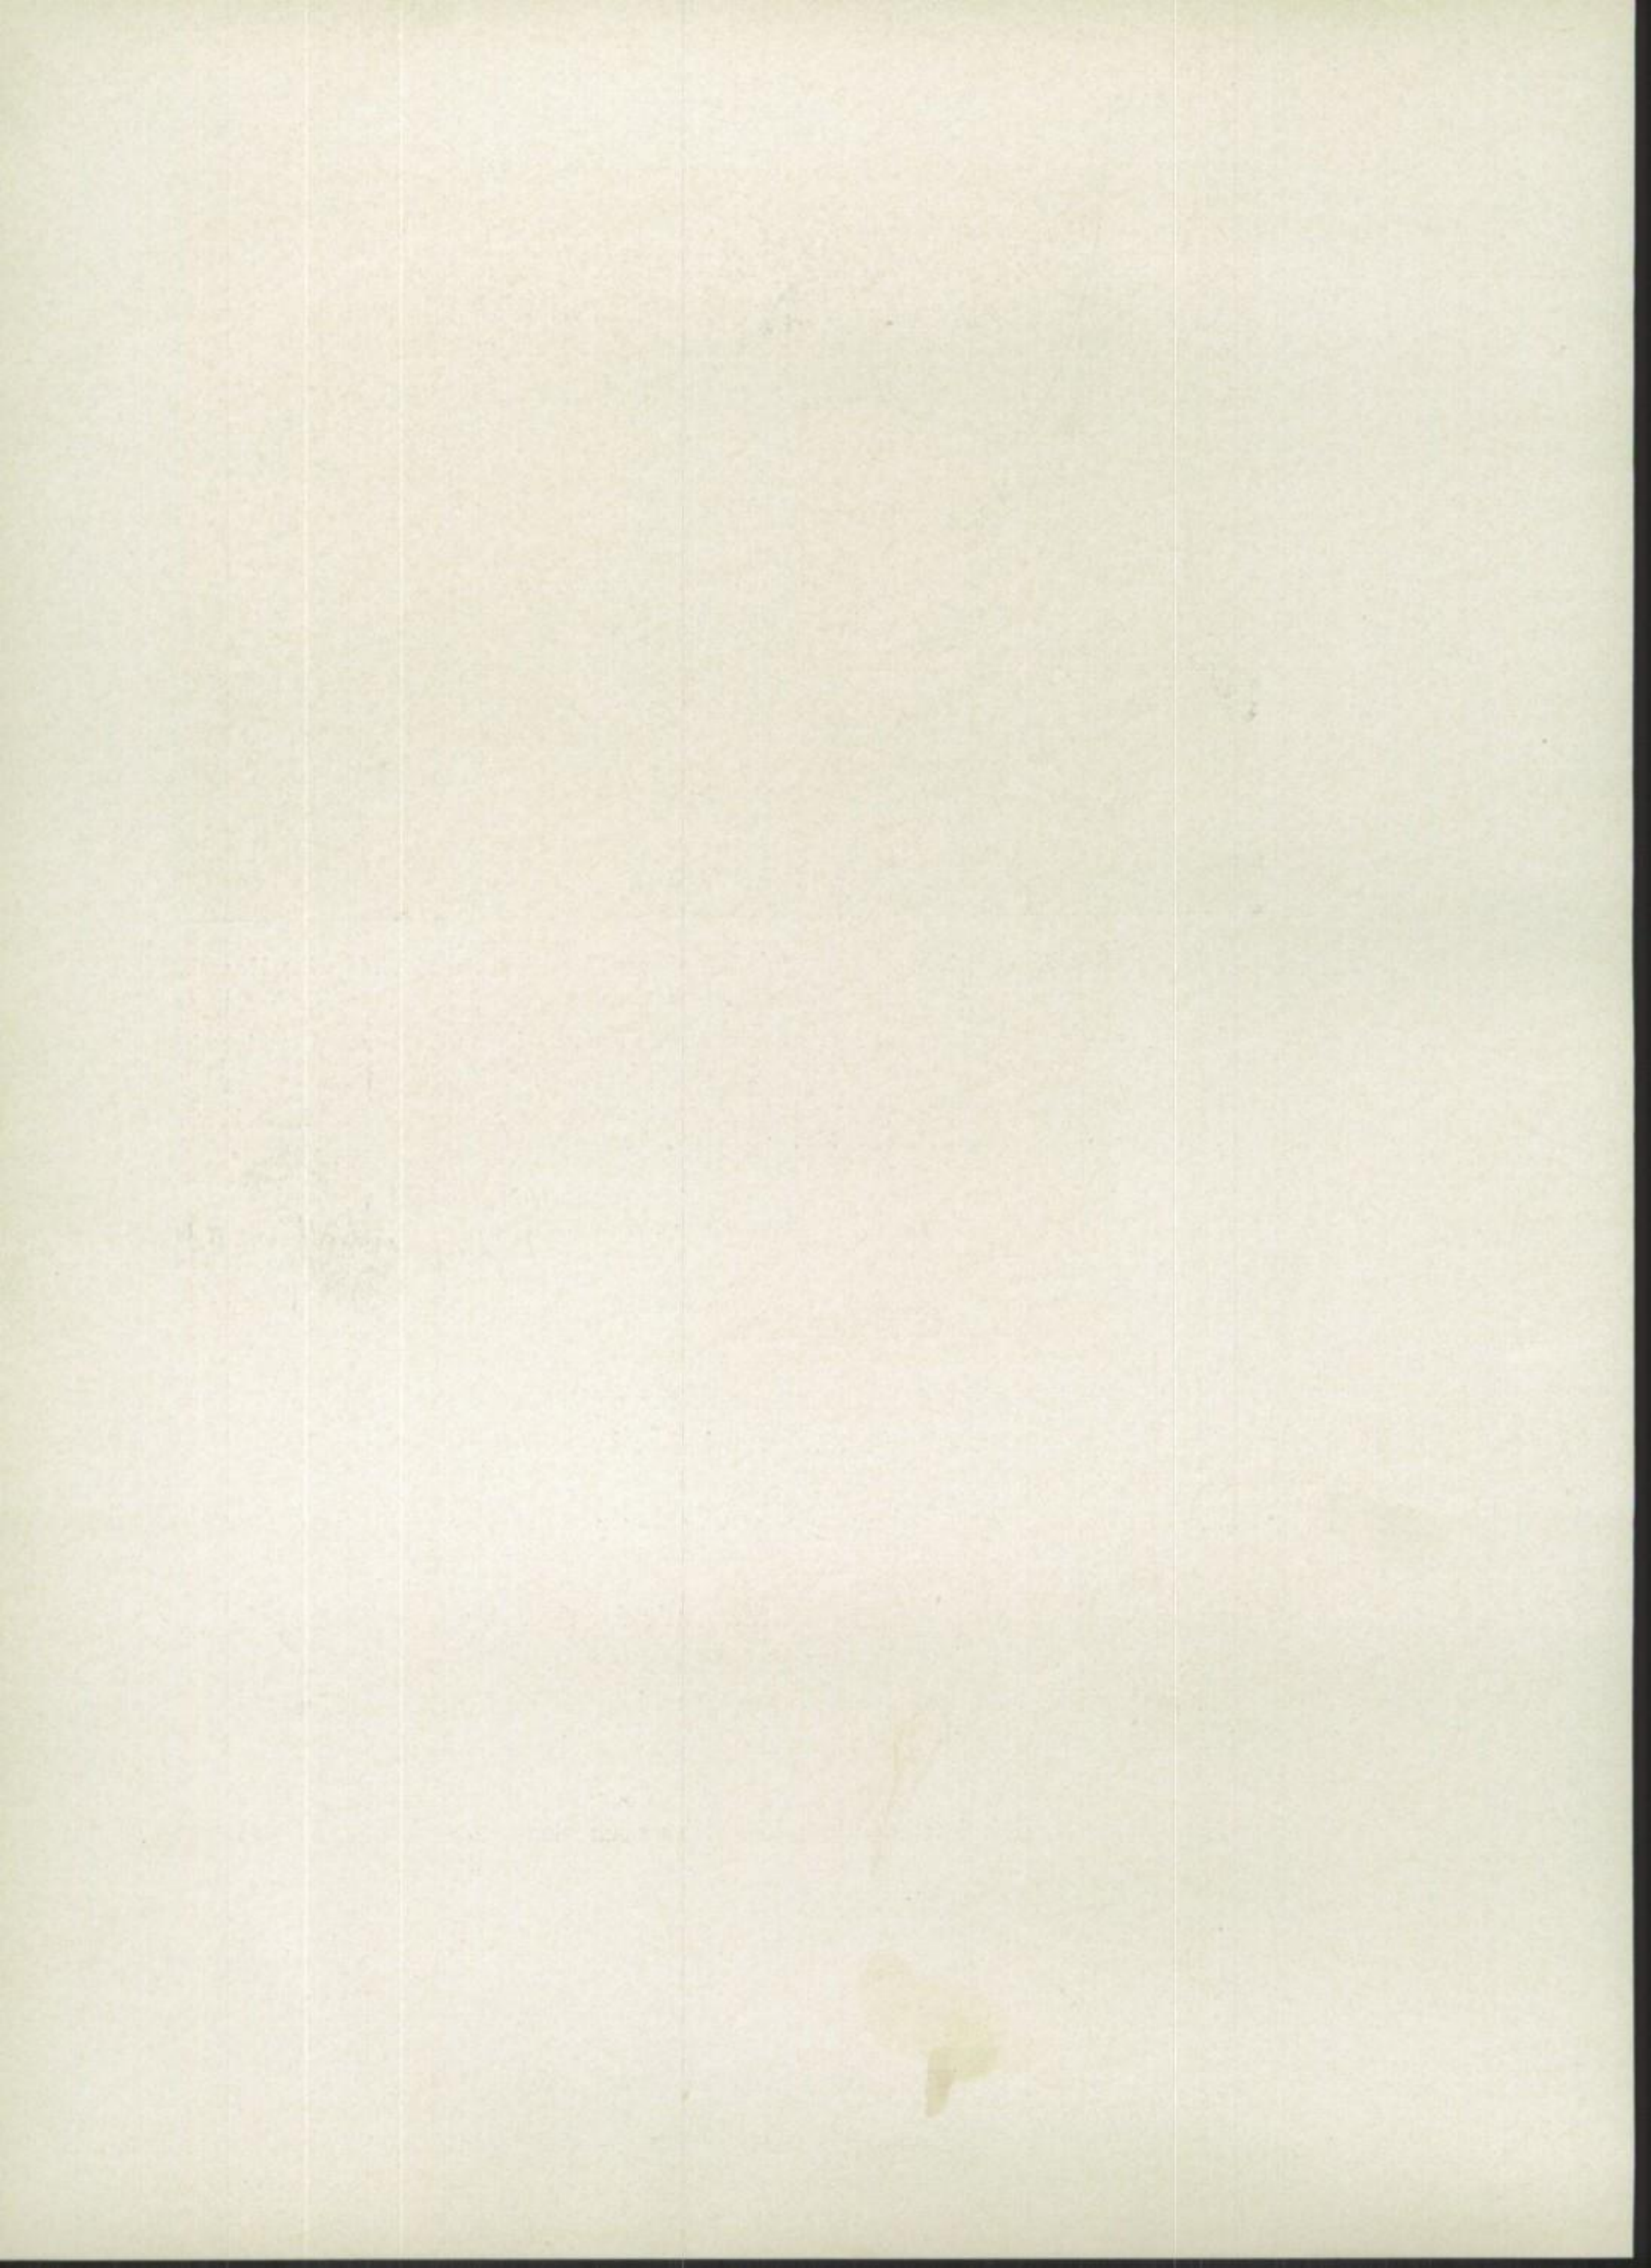

The orchestra has played an important part in the activities of the Bellevue High School for many years. Again this year it has been fortunate to study under the able direction of Mr. Ruthart.

Besides playing for all the assemblies, it has played for Class Night and all other such school programs.

Last October 17 the orchestra furnished the music for the fellowship dinner of the P.S.E.A. held at the Syria Mosque.

December 5, 1935, was the date of a concert in which the orchestra and Glee Club participated. As this affair was a success, plans have been made for more concerts.

This school would find it hard to do without its orchestra.

ATHLETICS

All Sports

Under the able tutorage of Mr. Zundel and Mr. Shope, the Bellevue High Sports were completed with great success.

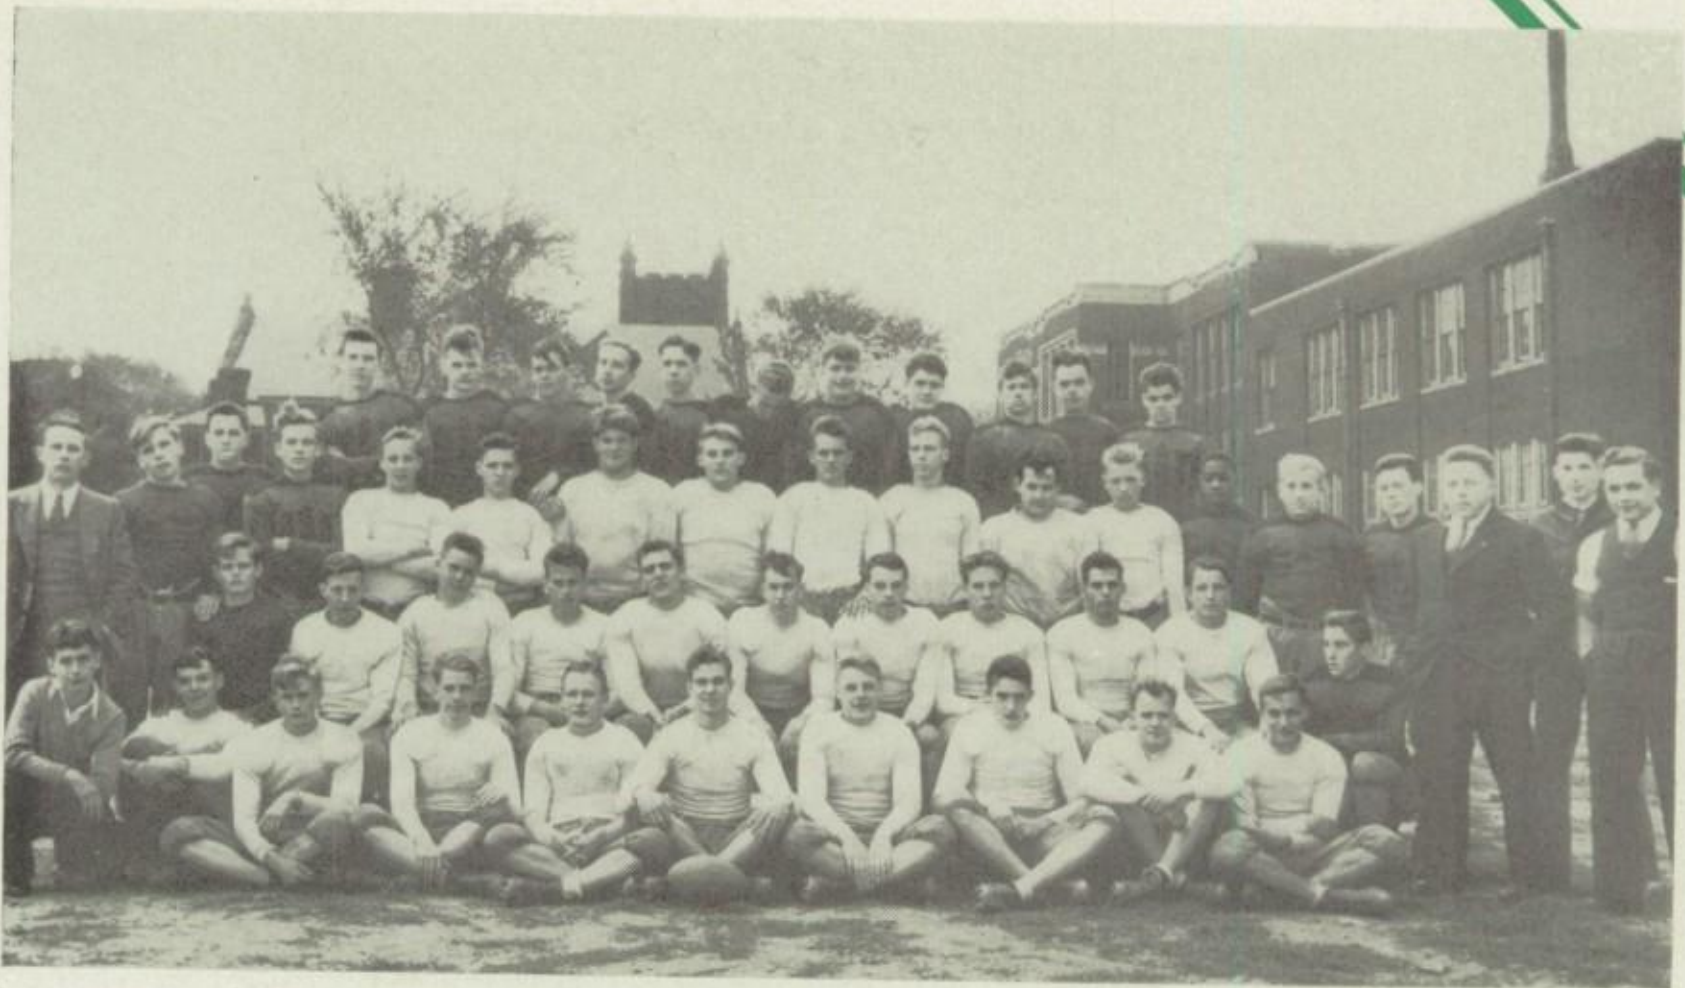

The sports schedule began with football. In this, taking into consideration the tough schedule and the green material, the football team came through with a very good showing. The record being three wins, four losses, and one tie.

With the football season closed, basketball came into the limelight. At the half-year mark in the League, Bellevue led with four wins and one loss. However, when the second half opened, the team had to play without McCance and Weidemuller. With new material being introduced into the lineup, the Bulldogs lost their remaining league games.

In track the cinder men came through with an impressive record. They entered four school meets and won them all. In the county and W.P.I.A.L. meets they gathered six and one points respectively. Altogether they amassed $244\frac{1}{2}$ points to their opponents 191 points.

The tennis team of "35" did not compete in any interscholastic matches. Instead, a tournament was held among the boys of the school, the outcome of which found Bob Culp the victor, with Al McCormick the runner up. In the fall two boys were entered in the Harvard Cup: Russ Grant, a new-comer, and Harry Comerer. Russ fared quite well, being eliminated, only after a hard game, in the semi-finals. Harry, with a bit of bad luck was eliminated in the first round.

Reserve Basketball

The Bellevue Reserves presented in this year's basketball season a list of victories that stood out impressively above a few defeats. The players were well coached by Mr. Shope, whose able tutorage developed talent that frequently showed flashes of brilliancy and brought the schedule to its close with pronounced success.

The Freshman composed the second reserve squad. Sophomores, however, were in the majority on the first squad, and it was this array of passers that heightened the hopes of all followers. Their showing and the prospect of possibilities from further development encouraged the student body to dreams of seeing a championship in another year.

Class Basketball

This year the Freshmen Class broke into the limelight by winning the class basketball championship.

In the first half the freshmen were closely pressed by the "12 B" class, but the underclassmen won in the race down the stretch.

The second half was a closely played contest between sophomores and freshmen, owing to a tie in games won, a playoff was scheduled. The underclassmen showed their superiority by downing the sophomores.

The freshmen won nine games and lost one. Their supremacy may be seen by their closest opponents, the "12 B" and sophomore classes, whose records show seven games won and three lost.

Russ Grant, a newcomer to Bellevue, was selected as one of Bellevue's representatives for the Harvard Cup Competition. The tournament, the results of which are diagramed above, was held in order to decide who the other representative would be.

The outcome of the Harvard Cup Tournament found Russ in the Semi-finals. We hope that next year he will win the Finals.

Girls' Soccer

A crisp snowy day, the laughing shrieks of girls, anxious coaches, and an important little ball—all these make soccer the exciting game that it is. Even more than previously the soccer teams were supported by their classes. The seniors were class champions, but theirs was not an easy victory this year. Every game was hard fought, because the teams were so evenly matched. As can be seen from the picture above, there were not only seniors but girls from all classes on the two varsity teams. In the battle between these two teams, Army and Navy, the Navy emerged victorious with the scores for the games as follows: 2-0 and 2-0.

Johnson, Becker, Ries, Hattman, Klemz, Serre, Lawry, Hutchings, Sargent, Chambers

Girls' Basketball

Shrill whistles! Shouts of laughter! Excited voices! Angry threats from the coaches! All this goes to make up a girls' basketball game. The class tournament ended with the seniors as victors followed closely by the sophomores. Those girls who did not make the class teams were permitted to enter the color team tournament. This also proved very exciting. Then, to "top it off", the Army and Navy games were held. The girls who were outstanding in the class or in the color games were chosen for these teams.

Basketball has proved more exciting and interesting this year than in past seasons.

Klemz, Hattman, Hutchings, Hickson, Beatty, Rocky, White, Inglefield.

Swimming

The remarkable progress made in the girls' swimming classes this year seems to indicate that at some not-too-future date there will emerge from Bellevue High School a prospective Helene Madison or Lenore Kight. The classes have been divided into two groups. First, there are those who cannot swim at all or those who are just learning. Second, there are those who are more advanced. The beginners have so improved that some are even courageous enough to practice plunging from the side of the pool. In the meantime, the better swimmers concern themselves with learning racing dives, treading water, making carries and breaking holds, and practicing artificial respiration. Truly, swimming has become a major sport with Miss Seldon's girls.

Girls' Sports

The girls' sports program was more extensive this year than that of preceding years. Great interest was shown in the sports carried on in school such as basketball, soccer, volleyball, track and swimming. This interest was also displayed in outside activities. Large groups of girls devoted their leisure time to golf, archery, horse-back riding, and tennis. Much to our surprise, we discovered that our girls had unusual talent in these fields. Because of the increasing interest in these sports, they may be included in the school activities in the future.

Senior Farewell

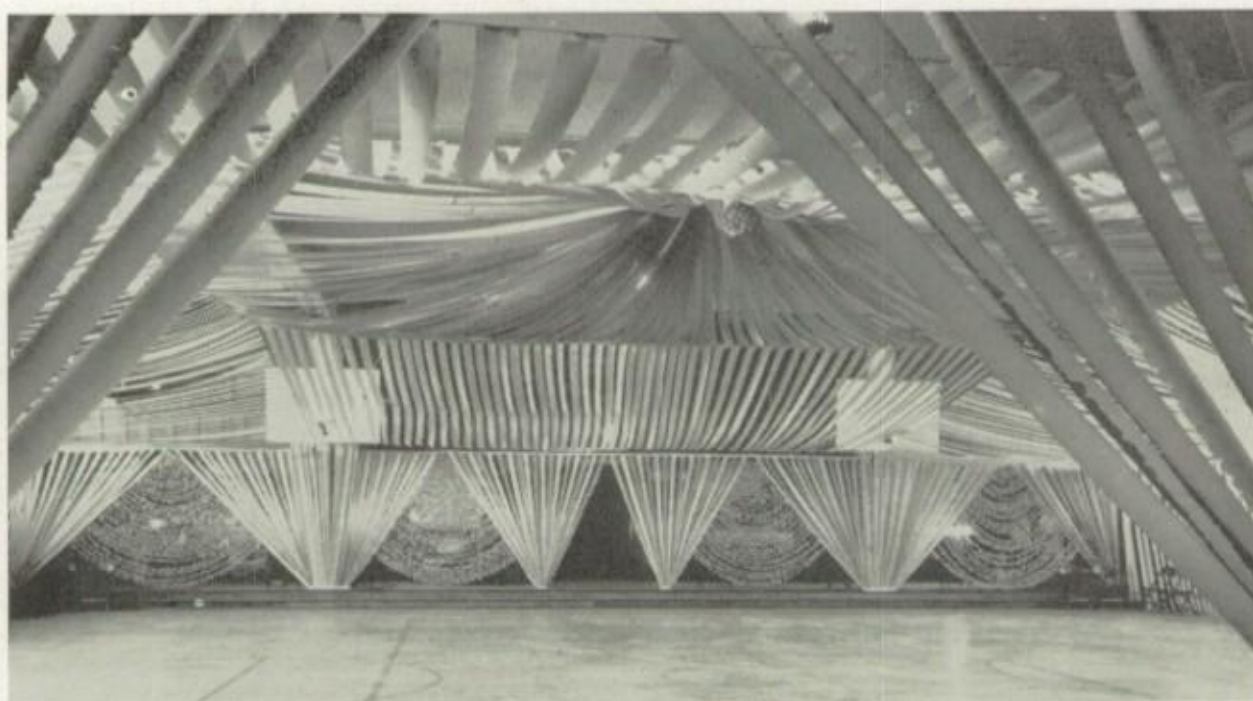

FEBRUARY, '36

Seriousness and fun, an odd combination, but that's just what we had for the Senior Farewell. The theme of the dance, a serious one, "Graduation of Youth," was presented by large murals. The fun was furnished by the orchestra and our own "Ishkabibble," Jim Haldeman.

The Junior Prom will remain in the memory of every senior as an outstanding event in his busy high school life. The decorations were probably the most elaborate ever attempted by Bellevue High School students. The grand march, the tantalizing music, the programs, and the dancers—all added to the general air of happy youth and gayety. Truly, it is a treasured memory for any senior.

"Growing Pains"

MAY, '36

Growing Pains, a comedy in three acts, was presented by the Senior Class on May 1, 1936. It was one of the most delightful and finished productions ever staged in Bellevue High School.

How well we all remember the Cross Stitch Heart presented in chapel February 14 by the Players' Guild, an organization composed of Freshmen and Sophomores.

The students, directed by Miss Ashe, have experienced every phase of play production, even to the making of scenery and costumes.

"Cross Stitch Heart"

"I'm a Divil"

A black and white photograph of a group of seven people, including children and adults, standing outdoors in front of a building. The group consists of four children and three adults. The children are on the left, and the adults are on the right. They are all smiling and looking towards the camera. The background shows a building with a porch and some trees.

A black and white photograph of three young women sitting side-by-side outdoors. They are all wearing dark-colored, one-piece swimsuits and white swim caps. The woman on the left is smiling broadly, showing her teeth. The woman in the middle is looking directly at the camera with a slight smile. The woman on the right is also looking at the camera with a slight smile. They appear to be at a beach or poolside, with some foliage visible in the background.
